

Feedback Ownership Clause

Last updated: July 13, 2026

This is a standalone excerpt of the Feedback clause found in our full Terms of Use, provided separately so you can review and acknowledge it on its own during signup.

If you send True Design Method ("we," "us") feedback, suggestions, ideas, bug reports, or other input about Discovery (TRUE AI), Planning (Roadmaps, including SMS check-ins), Alignment (TRUE Labs), or the Dashboard (together, the "Service") — whether by email, in-app prompt, support conversation, beta testing, or otherwise — ("Feedback"), you agree that:

- We may use it freely. We may use, modify, adapt, and incorporate your Feedback into the Service, in any form, without restriction, attribution, or compensation to you.
- It's not confidential. Feedback you give us is provided voluntarily and is not treated as your confidential information, and does not create any confidentiality or fiduciary obligation on our part with respect to that Feedback.
- No IP claims from Feedback. You won't later claim any ownership interest, royalty, or compensation from us for Feedback you gave us, or for any feature, improvement, or content we develop that was informed by that Feedback.
- Don't send us someone else's secrets. You agree not to send us Feedback that discloses trade secrets or confidential information belonging to a third party.

This clause is only about ideas and suggestions you choose to give us about the product. It does not affect the confidentiality of your own personal LifePrint, Roadmap, or check-in content — that's handled separately under our Privacy Policy and our Confidentiality Clause, and we do not treat your personal answers as "Feedback" under this clause.
